

of this record-breaking election in New York city. Machine politics and machine corruption are for the time being as completely crushed as if Tammany had been voted out of the city hall as well as out of a majority of the borough halls of the city.

The meaning of the election in a thunderous roar will be echoed in every State and in every municipality in the Union. It not only cripples Tammany as an organization under its present management, but it almost obliterates the Republican party as a factor in the municipal contest.

Republican Vote Lowest.

The returns show that the Republican vote went to practically the lowest ebb in the history of the city. While Democrats went to Hearst by scores of thousands and Republicans went to Tammany and to Hearst by tens of thousands. The returns are too incomplete to admit of analysis of the Republican falling off at this hour.

Mr. Hearst declared he was elected. This claim of his managers is based first on the charge that he lost a great many votes in the balloting, the intent of the voter being disregarded. Second, he says he lost a very large number of votes in the count through collusion between the Republican and Democratic election boards. Third, he says that at least 20,000 illegal votes were counted for the Tammany nominee. He had hundreds of men searching the city last night for the returns of missing election districts. He asserts that every ballot that got into the ballot boxes will be scrutinized, and his contest will be taken to the courts.

Tammany Blames McCarran.

Tammany Hall late last night was claiming the election of McClellan by between 5,000 and 10,000. The Tammany leaders blamed the disaster that has overtaken them, arm in arm with victory, on Senator Patrick H. McCarran in Brooklyn, where Hearst has a large vote. The question naturally suggests itself, if McCarran is to blame in Brooklyn, who is to blame in the other boroughs where the Tammany vote was smashed into smithereens?

It is probable that the vote of Richmond borough was saved. McClellan, from defeat. He made a splendid run there, and his success is to be directly attributed to the establishment of the municipal ferry, so that, after all, municipal ownership was Mr. Hearst's undoing.

The gain of the board of aldermen by the Republicans has deep significance for the future of the city. That board will make the next legislative appointment. In view of the closeness of the count and Mr. Hearst's threat to contest the election, it is quite probable that bets on the majority will be held up. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been wagered on the result at odds of from 5 to 1 to 1 on McClellan, and 2 to 1 against Hearst.

Municipal Ownership Victory.

The Municipal Ownership League achieved a brilliant victory in the borough of Manhattan. The Bronx, Eighteen of its candidates, fourteen of whom ran as Republicans, as well as Municipal Ownership men, were elected. The other four winners are out and out advocates of the principles of Municipal ownership without regard to any political affiliation.

Latest returns on the assembly elections show the body will be composed, in all probability, of 58 Republicans, 14 Democrats and 28 Municipal Ownership men, 24 Democrats and 28 straight-out Municipal Ownership men.

Rome's Mayor Democratic.

ROME, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Albert R. Kessinger, Democrat, was elected mayor today by a majority over Dr. F. G. Nock, Republican, the present mayor. Mr. Kessinger is managing editor of the Rome Sentinel.

Buffalo Is Democratic.

BUFFALO, Nov. 8.—J. N. Adams, Democrat, was elected mayor by 8,891 plurality.

His Men Wounded, Hearst Contests

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—"I don't give a damn to be mayor, but I am going to see to it that every man who cast his vote for me gets it counted. I am going to contest this thing and fight it out to the bitter end."

Fals and shouting with anger, William Randolph Hearst uttered these words at midnight to his excited district leaders, who were rushing to his headquarters in the Hoffman House. They had come rushing to him with stories of fraud, of intimidation, of assault, of attempted murder.

Mr. Hearst and his men were helped by friends into the rooms. One man had a broken arm dangling in his sleeve. Another's head had been cut open and the blood was trickling through his bandages. Tammany thugs in the lower East Side districts had all but killed them.

Candidate Beaten.

John Palmeri, candidate for Judge of the court of special sessions on the Municipal Ownership ticket, is in a hospital severely injured as the result of an attack upon him at the polls. He escaped a bullet fired at him, only to be set upon and beaten.

Joseph Cody, candidate for sheriff, was saved only by his own great strength and ability to fight the crowd that set upon him.

From many parts of Manhattan, reports poured in of the greatest violence and crimes at the polls that New York has ever known.

Made a Record.

The acts of John J. McKane in his strongest days were declared to be mild compared to the deeds committed yesterday in the Tammany districts led by Thomas Foley, "Big Tim" Sullivan, "Little Tim" Sullivan, John F. Oakley and Charles F. Murphy.

Murphy refrained from appearing in person during these attacks, but Oakley, commissioner of water, gas and electricity, led his own band through the Fourteenth Assembly district, and clubs and fists beat the Hearst and Jerome men without mercy.

At midnight, Mr. Hearst, surrounded by aides summoned from every part of the city, was marshaling his forces for a prompt and legal fight upon Tammany.

Lawyers Working.

Lawyers were summoned by the score to take the affidavits of the bruised and battered men coming in from the battleground.

Some of them had been sent to the Tammany strongholds where the returns were held back to see that a fair count was had.

Superintendent Morgan's deputies were gathered in wherever they could be reached. Special deputies were sworn in and sent in cars and automobiles to prevent further frauds.

Ivins, Though Defeated, Still Looks Happy

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—"I'm elected," said William M. Ivins, "elected to private life. I shall be very busy as a lawyer by the time the book, 'The Road to Wellville,' is in press."

Washington Went Wild Over Reform Victory

Crowds Gathered to Hear Returns at Times Office and Cheered Hearst's Progress to the Echo Whenever Gains Were Made.

Washington went Hearst-mad last night. Everybody took up his cause. The people did not know why, but they just couldn't help it.

The crowd in front of The Times office, where the returns were given out, were to all appearances Hearst enthusiasts. Hearst, however, was not the only idol. Every reform candidate when his name or picture was played on the screen, whether he was gaining or losing, was given a rousing cheer.

It was, pure and simple, a revolutionary gathering. It was the same at every place in town where a gathering collected to hear the election returns.

It was an off year election, but the crowds were there with all the enthusiasm of a Presidential contest. In the early evening when it looked like the "regulars" were sure of winning, the crowd was dead. Just as soon as Hearst, Weaver or any other of the reform candidates showed signs of strength, then the crowd let loose. The voting on the Poe amendment in Maryland was also eagerly watched, as was also the fate of Boss Cox in Ohio.

"It is time the country was waking up," said a middle-aged Baltimorean. "I knew today that that Poe amendment was going to get it good and proper, and the Democrats are the ones that killed it. In Baltimore today its defeat was the general topic of conversation, and I guess that will end any attempt at the disfranchisement of the colored people."

Views of Old-Timers.

Just back of him stood a couple of old-timers. They compared the Hearst-McClellan race in New York to the Blaine-Cleveland race there in 1884. "I tell you New York is for reform," said one. "Tammany and his gang are about their last legs. After a moment's hesitation his companion said: 'New York voters are peculiar. It's hard to tell which way the city or State will go. I would like to see Hearst win. But he can't. They will count him out, like they did Blaine twenty years ago.'"

That's him. Isn't he fine? Oh! How I wish he would win!" said one of a bevy of women that seemed to be eagerly watching the results. The picture of President Roosevelt followed Mr. Hearst, and a general outburst of enthusiasm followed. Then came Jerome, and the crowd immediately took up his cause, one old man saying to his elbow: "I would like to see him win. If he does, it will be one of the most remarkable things ever."

Ivins, when the reporters who were with him through his canvass asked for an interview. "Did you ever see a happier defeated candidate?"

"I shall you send the winner, when you know who he is, a telegram of congratulation?"

"I never was much of a hand at congratulations," said Mr. Ivins. "I think I won't get up to see which comes out on top of the heap."

"The fight is over," added Mr. Ivins, seriously. "What we want to do from now on is to make new history. I hope to have a hand in this history-making in the next four years."

"The indications are that McClellan is elected, but it all seems the other way. With Bernal elected in Queens and Corcoran elected in Kings, there will be a good board of estimate for the next four years."

DISTRICT NOT COMPELLED TO PAY FIRE INSURANCE

Can the District of Columbia be held responsible for fire losses to a building leased by it, which it fails to insure when requested to do so by the owner? The point was raised by the leasing of a building for a lodging house, the lease containing a clause requiring the tenant to keep the building insured. The Commissioners failed to renew the lease because there was no available appropriation.

On settling the question, the deputy auditor reported that the District cannot pay the insurance, but that a new lease can be drawn and new rental established to cover cost of insurance.

TAKES TIME

Some Years Getting There and What Happened Then.

The poison in coffee does not always work its mischief swiftly—sometimes it fastens its hold upon the victim by slow degrees that are not noticeable for a while. But once it begins, the day will surely come when the coffee drinker will be "up against it" and must have relief.

"A lady writes from Cal: 'We were great coffee drinkers in our home, using it at every meal and frequently drinking it in the evening with friends, and it was not until after the lapse of years that we began to realize that it was doing us harm.'"

"My symptoms were not so bad, although my health suffered in many minor ways, but my husband became afflicted with a most painful stomach trouble. He could not assimilate his food properly and everything he ate gave him great distress. We were forced to suspect the truth, but we now see that it was caused by the use of coffee. At last he has been cured, my husband of his dyspepsia. This is a statement that does not seem to have the significance it ought to have. I could make you understand how intense his sufferings used to be, you would realize what a deliverance Postum wrought for him."

"My own health has also greatly improved, and the credit for all must be given to Postum. Name it given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

accomplished. He is the man for New York, but the gang don't want him."

McClellan's picture was next flashed, and the crowd began to hiss. "He is no good. He won on a fluke the last time, and down with Tammanyism," could be distinctly heard on all sides.

"Seven hundred and thirty election districts out of a total of 1,348 in Greater New York gives McClellan a lead of two votes over Hearst," called out the megaphone operator at The Times, and the crowd went wild. "Hurrah for Hearst! He will get there! I knew he would win! Hurrah for our next President!" and several other exclamations of good wishes filled the air.

Were With Weaver.

The announcement that Mayor Weaver had carried Philadelphia by probably 75,000 and that the State Democratic ticket would win throughout was likewise pleasing to the crowd. "This is certainly a reform election," said one of a group of well-dressed men. "It's worse than that," said another of the party. "It's a revolution. It's been a long time coming, but it's evidently here now."

"I never thought an election in New York city could be so close," chimed in the third one. "and it looks now as if the actual figures would not be known for several days. Hearst is the coming standard-bearer of Democracy. It will not surprise me if it's Roosevelt against Hearst in 1908. This fight, whether he wins or loses, will be a stepping stone for him all right."

When The Times announced the withdrawal from politics forever of George B. Cox, of Ohio, the crowd seemed excitedly related to the fact. "Two weeks ago," said a well-dressed man, who had all the earmarks of a politician, "I thought he had died a few days ago, but he is badly left. There was only one Mark Hanna in Ohio, and it will be a long time before his methods of conducting a campaign can be imitated."

Throughout the downtown districts the same revolutionary feeling was expressed. Even the students of Georgetown and George Washington universities came out in the streets, armed with a vengeance. Those inquiring by telephone of The Times for the result appeared to be in a hurry. Some expressed surprise that Hearst was polling such a large vote, but admitted that the race was between Hearst and McClellan all along.

The activity kept up until nearly 11 o'clock, and even then a few stragglers were loitering around waiting for the results. On the White Lot the students of both universities gathered, and what they termed a "jamboree." They were good natured but gave the police much trouble in preventing a general blockade of the streets leading to and from the ellipse.

SAN FRANCISCO CARRIED BY UNION LABOR PARTY

Eugene E. Schmitz Is Elected Mayor of City for Third Consecutive Time.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—For the third consecutive time, Eugene E. Schmitz, the Union Labor candidate, was re-elected mayor by a majority of at least 15,000 over John S. Partridge, the joint nominee of the Republican and Democratic parties.

Returns from 34 precincts out of 320 gave Schmitz 42,302 and Partridge 28,108. In addition to mayor, the Union Labor party has probably elected its entire municipal ticket by majorities ranging from 10,000 to 15,000.

Voting machines were used for the first time in all the precincts. Very little scratching was done. A proposition to increase the liquor license was probably defeated.
